President's letter

Nancy Moore, President

So - three times is the charm? Not for the East Providence Historical Society, it seems, as far as the annual picnic weather goes. On Monday, June 28th at 4:45 p.m., the heavens opened and torrents poured down for the third straight year causing us to move to Memorial Hall (Newman Church) and drenching us as we reached it. About the only thing we have become proficient at in these three years, is booking the church for that Monday night (Annual Meeting) well ahead of time, leaving nothing to chance.

And so, fifty of us came in from the rain for fellowship, tasty food, laughs and good conversation. It is always a pleasure to sum up the year and give a round of applause and thanks to those members who have held the reins for another year. We have had lots of hands pitching in this year for which we have been very grateful. (Our grateful list is printed elsewhere in this issue.)

There are some items to bring to your attention this month.

- Don Doucette of the Pomhams Rocks Lighthouse group reports that the light will be getting some detailed exterior care this summer and should be looking quite striking by the fall.
- The EP Historic District Commission held its June meeting at the Weaver House in the front parlors and the interior is a handsome labor of love. We'll be working on getting a meeting there soon.
- In July, the EPHDC had a tour of the Caleb Williams cottage and a meeting at Hunt House.

Please take a walk to the back of the cottage to see some of the repairs to the siding and roof work.

- The fish ladders for Hunts Mills and the Turner Dam are still not a sure thing. New bids have been received by the Army Corps of Engineers but there is the possibility that the cost of both dams will be too high and the Corps will settle for doing the Omega Dam ladder only, which will move all work to Roger Williams Avenue. Obviously, we will deal with whatever situation comes our way.

We will meet again in September at Newman Church. Until then, enjoy your families, your friends, and your gardens. Take a trip to see some historic site in RI and come back and tell us all about it.

A Special Note From One Of Our Long Distance Members

6/8/10

Just wanted the Gazette staff to know how much I enjoy receiving your publication. I often wish I were nearer in order to enjoy some of the activities of the Society. When visiting my daughter on Cape Cod, I have on occasion been able to visit the Hunt House Museum. I am active in my local historical society, primarily as costume curator since 1981. Keep up the good work!

Gratefully,
Pat Paulson McGrail - East Providence High School 1944

(Pat now lives in Chicago)

Request From Susan Cady

It is my desire to collect stories and write about local Pierce Field history. I am hoping to contact many groups of people hoping some will contact me with stories to share. I have aerial photos from four different years. I have an old map with the old shape of Jones Pond. I think I have enough visuals to create a display for the museum but I need reminiscences to go with the visuals. Some subjects would be: WPA workers who renovated Jones Pond in the 1940s. St. Mary's orphanage. Activities or the quarry on Quarry Street. Quonset huts in Pierce Field in the 1940s. Oil terminal on Lyon Avenue. Life on Lyons Farm before it became the Metacomet golf club. Students who attended Mauran Avenue school and the former school on the corner of Lyon Avenue and Juniper Street. Also any other schools which were demolished for Route 195.

Jesse Albright for continuing to show up on Open

But we are most grateful for all of you, near and far; who still think preservation in East Providence has need of your support. Our membership stays loyal, constant and vital. Thank you, one and all.

And now for my plea to others of you who might like to help out: Our Telephone Committee is down to three members. That is a heavy load for even these veterans to handle. Here's what they do: In early December and mid June, calls are made to see how many will attend the Christmas Party and Annual Picnic. If you think you can fit that into your schedule, please call Nancy Moore, 438-4299 or speak to a Board member at the next meeting.

Gifts To The Museum

Mrs. Richard Johnson - Rumford Fruit Cook Book and a small Rumford cookbook by Fanny Farmer.

(Would You Believe: The old original Rumford
Factory building is the new home of the Festival Ballet. WOW!! Has it come up in the world. How fortunate that the building was saved.)

Postcard from the collection of Reinhard Wohlgenuth

With the above normal temperatures we have, most of us will appreciate the time we can spend in an air conditioned area. 100 years ago people would seek out the coolness of the river and woods at Hunt's Mills to cool off.
